Gentlemen:

As a senior citizen I have found it most distressing that anti- monopoly rules are no longer enforced and we are living in an age of excessive greed and power for power's sake. I do not believe it has to be this way and allowing WalMart to start its own bank would only add to the excessively and unconsciously used power that it has amassed.

Please be loyal to the American public and listen carefully and attend to the concerns that we have regarding how power is now being used.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Margaret S. Voorhees
